The Story of the Grand Budapest:

The illustrious Grand Budapest Hotel sits atop upper Nebelsbad, nestled among the Alps, in the beloved Republic of Zubrowka, which was once the seat of an empire. The Grand Budapest is one of the most historic hotels in Europe, and is well-known among many, from businessmen, to tourists, and thus, well-seasoned guests have continued to return to the Grand Budapest for decades; not only due to the luxury experienced at the hotel, but also due to the passion and love the employees hold for the hotel. For the Grand Budapest is not just a hotel, it is a renowned institution.

The spa at the Grand Budapest is a special attraction: featuring indoor pools that date back to Zubrowka's Golden Age, the thermal spa, and a sunbathing terrace. It is said that Mr. Moustafa, owner of the Grand Budapest, spends most of his time in these baths whenever he returns to the hotel. The splendor of these baths simply cannot be missed.

The Grand Budapest is located in an almost secret corner of the world, where this treasure trove of luxury and nostalgia remained untouched, as a pandora's box of a better time in history.

The Grand Budapest represents a luminous way of life that holds as much history as its grandeur. Since its atrophy during the 1960s, the hotel has been vindicated and rehabilitated to its former glory.
